Part C: Subject–Verb Agreement

- | | |
|-------------|----------|
| 1. was | 6. makes |
| 2. deserves | 7. sits |
| 3. walk | 8. seem |
| 4. were | 9. have |
| 5. are | 10. has |

Notes: 1 and 6 turn on the true subject (basket, economics), not the noun nearest the verb. In 4 and 9, “neither/nor” and “either/or” agree with the nearer subject (players, passengers). In 5, the subject follows the verb (letters). In 6, economics looks plural but names one subject. In 10, everyone is always singular even though “classrooms” is plural.

Rewrites:

11. The jar of cookies was empty by dinner.
12. Neither the twins nor their mother stays late.
13. There are six chairs missing from the set.
14. Each of the puppies chews on the rug.
15. The letters left on the desk were ignored.

Sample answer: The glass makes Ivan feel separated and unseen, like his mark on the world is erased every night. 4. B 5. C

Artists — 1. Sample answer: Julia’s stuffed toy gorilla reminds Ivan of his twin sister Tag, who died, so he calls the toy Not-Tag. 2. Sample answer: Julia slipped a crayon and paper through the broken glass, and Ivan copied what he had watched her do. 3. Sample answer: He means that he and Julia are alike in being creative, even though one is a gorilla and one is a human. 4. B 5. C

Shapes in Clouds — 1. Sample answer: Even as a baby he saw shapes in clouds and sculptures in stones and reached for colors, showing an artist's eye from the start. 2. Sample answer: He dipped his fingers in cool mud and used his mother's back as a canvas to draw on. 3. Sample answer: It suggests she was gentle and tolerant, letting her baby use her as a canvas without complaint. 4. B 5. B

Imagination — 1. Sample answer: Humans think gorillas don't have imaginations and don't remember their pasts or think about their futures. 2. Sample answer: Ivan admits that he mostly thinks about what is happening now rather than what could be, agreeing partly with the human view. 3. Sample answer: It suggests that Ivan has been disappointed before, so he tries not to expect good things to happen. 4. B 5. B

The Loneliest Gorilla in the World — 1. Sample answer: When the mall was new, visitors came all day, but lately days can pass with no visitors at all. 2. Sample answer: The boy calls Ivan the loneliest gorilla in the world and cries while clutching his mother's hand. 3. Sample answer: Ivan actually wants to reassure the boy that with enough time you can get used to almost anything. 4. B 5. C

TV — 1. Sample answer: Visitors find it strange to see a gorilla watching tiny humans in a box, though Ivan notes it's just as strange that they stare at him in his own box. 2. Sample answer: Ivan especially likes cartoons, particularly when someone slips on a banana peel. 3. Sample answer: Bob thinks Westerns are nothing like real life, since the good guys always win in a Western. 4. B 5. B

The Nature Show — 1. Sample answer: Ivan has been in his domain 9,855 days and used to believe he was the last gorilla on earth. 2. Sample answer: He saw a real, live gorilla on the nature show, which made him wonder if there were others like him. 3. Sample answer: He wonders where the gorilla lives, whether it will visit, and whether a female gorilla exists too. 4. B 5. B

Stella — 1. Sample answer: Ivan and Stella are both huge and alone, and they both love yogurt raisins. 2. Sample answer: The bull elephant tossed the trainer into the air with his tusk after the claw-stick struck him. 3. Sample answer: Stella remembers every detail of her childhood, while Ivan does not remember much about his early life. 4. B 5. B

Stella's Trunk — 1. Sample answer: Stella fell off a pedestal during a circus trick and injured her foot, which never fully healed and still causes her to limp and get infections. 2. Sample answer: She calls the scars from her chains "bracelets," using a lighthearted word to describe a painful reminder of her past. 3. Sample answer: She means that being old makes people underestimate her, when she may still be more capable than they think. 4. B 5. C

A Plan — 1. Sample answer: Ivan plans to eat much more food than usual because humans seem to enjoy watching him eat, and he hopes it will draw more visitors. 2. Sample answer: Mack throws a soda can at Thelma when she repeats "Kiss me, big boy," but she hops out of the way in time. 3. Sample answer: Mack is upset because they haven't had visitors in two days and he says they are losing money. 4. B 5. B

Bob — 1. Sample answer: Bob tells Ivan the problem isn't his appetite, hinting that something more serious than a lack of visitors is wrong. 2. Sample answer: Humans tossed Bob and his siblings out of a truck onto the freeway; Bob rolled into a ditch and survived, but the others did not. 3. Sample answer: Bob's tail moves in many different ways that seem to carry different meanings, and Ivan can't fully read them. 4. B 5. B

Wild — 1. Sample answer: Bob says "Everywhere is my home," calling himself a wild beast, untamed and undaunted. 2.
